

Expert Services You Can't Afford to Miss

Whether you are just starting or are well into your Science of Reading journey, RGR's professional development solutions offer implementation excellence, job-embedded coaching, and product training tailored to the needs of your students and educators.

Literacy gains cannot wait!

Unlike one-size-fits-all programs and generic courses, we collaborate directly with schools and districts to co-create common goals, data meetings, and coaching sessions to align professional development with your school's or district's unique goals.

Expert-led, engaging sessions pair research-backed literacy programs with hands-on product training and coaching, ensuring your educators implement Science of Reading-aligned strategies with confidence—and students achieve measurable growth.
